

ABSTRACT

The invention features inhibition of protein-protein interaction by therapeutic agents, which can be used to treat numerous disorders, including those associated with expanded CAG repeats.

5

20114250.doc

20114250.doc